THROUGH Elihu Root, J. Pierpont Morgan has again been reconciled to President Roosevelt and will give him loyal support. So it appears that only a few of good enough for them.

THE strike has reached the point where the retail dealers as well as beef and pork producers and contold by our republican friends that law should not intervene. The combine is unwittingly creating reform sentiment in politics.

THERE are a number of republicans in Barber county who would like to know how many employes State Senator Noftzger had on the candidate for re-election and is out of time. Kuroki's father atter thereby asking for an endorsement the revolution of 1831, fled from of his official record.

THE Populist and Democrats of Harper county are going to nominate an independent ticket this year. We tried the plan in Barber Kuroki charged his son to avenge county two years ago and republi-can election boards refused to count 150 independent votes under technical provisions under our infamous ballot law.

M. F. Belisle of Larned was nominated for congressman by the Democrats of the Seventh district at Great Bend last week. There were two other candidates, A. B. Reeves of Dodge City and W. B. Washington of Leoti, but they both withdrew soon after the convention was organized and Belisle's nomination was made by acclamation. Mr. Belisle is a very able man and will make an interesting campaign.

He leaves the republican party on account of its imperial guest of her son Harry and wife, policy. He says it means the transformation of the republic into an empire if the republican plan is pursued and adopted.

THE Democrats and Populists of Nebraska got together on a good ticket last week notwithstanding Clipped from the News-Review. that Tom Waston and Tom Tibbles, the Populist candidates for president and vice president, were on the ground and opposed fusion with all the strength they could command. Fusion in Nebraska ought to be easy. There the name of a candidate can appear on two or more tickets on the official ballot if the parties desire to so elect. In the Nebraska fusion neither party was called on to sacrifice anything.

JUDGE PARKER, in his speech accepting the Democratic nomination for president, said that he will not accept a renomination whether he is elected or not. If elected, he does not desire to be hampered with any second term entanglements. He gives as his reason that great problems will be presented for settlement by the national executive during the next four years and to be settled right the president must be utterly independant.

De a shance for Joe McAdoo also to be picked out as a candidate in defiance of his forbidding outward looks. Joe is all right at heart: but Lord, what a scare-crow appearance h's barber has given him!

REPUBLICANS FAVOR IT.

It is significant that although republicans, as well as democrats and populists, have expressed themselves in favor of the election of United Sates senators by popular vote to the extent that among the rank and file of all political parties there seems to be no division on this question, the republican national convention failed to incorporate in its platform a popular election

Through the platform of 1904 the democratic party and its representatives are solemnly pledged to do all in their power to bring about this important reform in the election of senators.

It is strange that with public sentiment so overwhelmingly in favor of this reform, republican senators have been able to delay the good work. Perhaps it is not so strange that the republican national convention, controlled, as it was by a handful of men, failed to give expression to what is on this point undoubtedly the sentiments of the rank and file of the republican party. The Nebraska legislature of 1903 was well as among men of all other political parties, was so strongly in favor of the election of senators by the people that the Nebrask legislature adopted a resolution in favor of the proposed reform. The Michigan legislature, also witness my hand and official seal this 2th is strange that with public sentiments for the scribed real estate, situated in Barber county. Kansas, to-wit:

Joe McAdoo was in the city Wednesday afternoon, but since he had his hair cut and a clean shave his friends hardly recognize him.
